land. They are the Triumph and the Boswell stock, and are splendid looking animals.

News was received by the Mary E. Foster, which arrived from Kauai yesterday, of the two natives who went fishing last Tuesday night in the stream at Waima. They accidentally fell into the stream and were washed out to sea, but managed to swim to the Mary E. Foster, which was at anchor.
They were picked up together with the net.

THE CAMPOBELLO CONCERTS.

A Great Musical Treat at the Opera House.

The lull in the musical atmosphere that has prevailed here for a long time past has passed away, and we are now in the full swing of a brief but what will certainly prove to be a very enjoyable series of opera and chamber concerts.
The Campobello troupe opened their series of entertainments last evening at the Hawaiian Opera House with as enjoyable and brilliant a concert as has been given in this city for several years past. The audience was agreeably demonstrative, and evidently appreciated the concert at its full value from the enthusiasm manifested at the conclusion of most of the numbers. In fact, it was really a grand concert, and as such met the indorsement it deserved from a critical and exacting audience.
His Majesty the King and His Excellency Governor Dominis were present in the Royal box, and among the audience were many of our prominent citizens.
The programme, which contained ten numbers, was of a classic nature. It was opened with a grand duo for two pianos, Rondo, op. 73, Chopin, played by the Misses Elise and Pauline Joran.
They were enthusiastically received on making their appearance, and before many bars had been played it was evident the audience were to listen to a performance of a high order. Miss Elise, who is only nine years of age, and is unable at present to reach the pedals of the instrument, has a wonderful touch for one so young. Her playing is clear and expressive, and she bids fair to become a performer of very notable attainments.
Her sister, Pauline, is possessed of much talent as a pianist, and they both were most enthusiastically applauded at the conclusion of the number.
Signor Lencioni gave a fine rendering of Rossini's buffo aria "Miei Rampaoli." Possessed of a good and powerful voice, and a strong vein of Italian humor, he made a great success.
The next number, scena from Weber's "Der Freischutz," introduced Miss May Mitchell Spring, a rising young prima donna, to the audience. Her voice is a light soprano of excellent quality, and she has been trained in a good school.

The young soprano had much reason to be gratified with her reception—a very cordial one indeed. She will, if we are not mistaken, make a name for herself at no distant date. Miss Mitchell was compelled to respond to an encore, and sang in the sweetest and most expressive manner that beautiful "The Last Rose of Summer."

Miss Pauline Joran played a violin solo, "21 Polonaise Brillante," by Wieniawski, an effective and difficult piece. Her playing was marvellous, runs being made with a rapidity and clearness that was refreshing, while her harmonics were as clear as a bell. The hearty reception accorded the youthful violinist was entirely merited. She was encored, and responded with a cradle song by Hauser, charmingly played with muted instrument.

The next number, an air, "Revenge, Timotheus Cries" (Alexander's Feast), by Handel, brought out Signor Campobello, who is the possessor of a fine baritone voice of good compass and sympathetic timbre. The selection was one particularly well suited to his voice and he delighted the audience by his artistic singing. He was recalled and gave a pretty song of his own composition, "My Sole Command."

The first part of the programme concluded with a duet, "Quanto Amore," capitally sung by Miss Spring and Signor Lencioni.

The second part brought out Miss Lulu Joran in a piano solo, concerto in G minor, by Saint Saens. In this selection the young pianist showed herself fully at home in all matters of technique; she phrases intelligently, and has a graceful presence at the instrument.
The hands are prettily used, and the whole bearing of the player is refined and interesting. The most difficult music has apparently no terrors for her.
The orchestral part was played on a second piano by Miss Pauline.

Miss Lulu acted throughout the evening as accompanist with efficiency and taste. The young ladies all received very handsome bouquets.

This evening the second concert will be given at the same place and hour.
Seats can be booked at Wiseman's.

A Distinguished Visitor.

The San Francisco speakers speak in high terms of Mr. H. G. Parker, professor of English Literature at Trinity College, Toronto, Canada, who arrived in this city by the Mararoa on Saturday last. We had a pleasant visit from Mr.
Parker yesterday. He is on a tour of observation around the world and will combine business with pleasure. During his stay on these Islands it is his purpose to gather as much information regarding them as possible, which will be embodied in letters to the Toronto "Mail," one of the leading papers of the Dominion. From here he will proceed direct to Sydney, being under engagement to lecture before the University and learned societies of that city early in June. After visiting Melbourne, where he is also to lecture, Professor Parker will return to Auckland and give a literary entertainment there, after which he proceeds to Japan and India, returning home by way of England. His tour will occupy two years, during which time he will correspond regularly with the Toronto "Mail." Professor Parker gave a recital of miscellaneous selections recently under the auspices of the Longfellow Memorial Association at the California State University, Berkeley. The programme comprised selections from "Hamlet," "The Merchant of Venice," "Richard III," and some humorous sketches. The "Alta" says:
"Favorably criticised by the press of the East, Professor Parker's reputation suffered nothing last night. He possesses to a wonderful degree the capacity to place himself in instant sympathy with his characters.
He is possessed of a noble and expressive face, a highly cultivated and wellmodulated baritone voice, and an easy presence which puts him at once at ease with his audience. With laughter and appreciative silence alternate the evening passed, as Hamlet, Shylock, Dun-dreary and a dozen other characters were held up to the audience by the talented reciter." It is to be hoped that this gentleman will favor a Honolulu audience with a specimen of his powers during his stay here.

On Saturday Mr. James Morgan, of the firm of E. P. Adams & Co., sold the Daigle premises, on Pensacola street, to Mr.
Manuel Andre for $1,800. A seventh interest in the Boyd estate at Wainane was Odd Fellows Anniversary.

Last evening a pleasant company of ladies and members of the Order of I. O.
O. F. assembled at the rooms of Excelsior Lodge No. 1, to celebrate the sixteenth anniversary of the foundation of the Order in America. Bro. W. E.
Foster, D. D. G. Sire, called the meeting to order and announced the opening ode, which being sung, he read the proclamation of the Grand Sir, and then gave a brief address on the origin, progress, aims and work of the institution. After a piano solo by Miss Hopper, the oration was delivered by Bro. A. Mackintosh, which created much amusement by its humor and was interspersed with information concerning the Order. A delightful musical programme was then given by the ladies, set off by a reading from Bro. A. T. Atkinson, after which the fiddler was ready, however, Mr. H.
Hart had his innings with his ice cream, making all present feel comfortable and cool.

Cricket Match.

A cricket match has been arranged between mechanics of the Honolulu Iron Works and a team from H. B. M.'s ship Satellite. Wickets will be pitched at 1 o'clock p. m. on Thursday next at the Makiki Recreation Grounds. It is to be hoped that this is but the beginning of a series of matches with the blue jackets during their stay in Honolulu.

BASEBALL.

Benedicts, 22; Hawaii, 19.

There was a large attendance at the game on Saturday between the Benedicts and Hawaii. The Royal Hawaiian Band was stationed in the band-master's garden, and during the afternoon enlivened the proceedings with a choice selection of music. The playing was poor, the game lasting three hours, no less than forty-one runs being made. Desha got hurt during the game and Halemann took his place. There was considerable change in the players of the two nines since they last met.
Gardner Wilder gave evident satisfaction as umpire. The following is the full score, furnished by Mr. H. S. Davidson:

Fort-Street Church.

Sunday evening the Fort-street church was crowded in every part at the Easter praise service. The choir and orchestra, under the direction of Mr. J. W. Yarnley, rendered the programme of music in a most acceptable manner. The pulpit, platform and choir desk were elaborately decorated with flowers and evergreens.
Pastor Cruzan delivered an able Easter address.

Reception at the Y. M. C. A.

This evening a reception will be given to the officers and crew of H. B. M. S.'s Satellite and Heroine, now in port. The entertainment committee, of which Mr.
Theo. H. Davies is chairman, has charge of the affair. A programme of music and addresses, with songs by the sailors, will be given and refreshments served.
